

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF MICHIGAN
NORTHERN DIVISION

DARREN DEON JOHNSON,

Plaintiff,

Case No. 2:24-cv-154

Honorable Maarten Vermaat

WENDY BALL,

Defendant.

This is a civil rights action brought by a state prisoner under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(c) and Rule 73 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Plaintiff consented to proceed in all matters in this action under the jurisdiction of a United States magistrate judge. (ECF No. 4.)

Plaintiff filed a motion for leave to proceed in forma pauperis (ECF No. 2). Plaintiff, however, is barred from proceeding in forma pauperis under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g). Where a plaintiff is ineligible for in forma pauperis status under 28 U.S.C. § 1915, “he must make full payment of the filing fee before his action may proceed.” In re Alea, 286 F.3d 378, 380 (6th Cir. 2002). That means payment should precede preliminary review pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b) and 42 U.S.C. § 1997e(c), which the Court is required to conduct prior to the service of the complaint. See In re Prison Litigation Reform Act, 105 F.3d 1131, 1131, 1134 (6th Cir. 1997); McGore v. Wigglesworth, 114 F.3d 601, 604–05 (6th Cir. 1997). Service of the complaint on the named defendants is of particular significance in defining a putative defendant’s relationship to the proceedings.

“An individual or entity named as a defendant is not obliged to engage in litigation unless notified of the action, and brought under a court’s authority, by formal process.” Murphy Bros. v. Michetti Pipe Stringing, Inc., 526 U.S. 344, 347 (1999). “Service of process, under longstanding tradition in our system of justice, is fundamental to any procedural imposition on a named defendant.” Id. at 350. “[O]ne becomes a party officially, and is required to take action in that capacity, only upon service of a summons or other authority-asserting measure stating the time within which the party served must appear and defend.” Id. (citations omitted). That is, “[u]nless a named defendant agrees to waive service, the summons continues to function as the sine qua non directing an individual or entity to participate in a civil action or forgo procedural or substantive rights.” Id. at 351. Therefore, the Prison Litigation Reform Act (PLRA), Pub. L. No. 104-134, 110 Stat. 1321 (1996), by requiring courts to review and even resolve a plaintiff’s claims before service, creates a circumstance where there may only be one party to the proceeding—the plaintiff—at the district court level and on appeal. See, e.g., Conway v. Fayette Cnty. Gov’t, 212 F. App’x 418 (6th Cir. 2007) (stating that “[p]ursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915A, the district court screened the complaint and dismissed it without prejudice before service was made upon any of the defendants . . . [such that] . . . only [the plaintiff] [wa]s a party to this appeal”).

Here, Plaintiff has consented to a United States magistrate judge conducting all proceedings in this case under 28 U.S.C. § 636(c). That statute provides that “[u]pon the consent of the parties, a full-time United States magistrate judge . . . may conduct any or all proceedings . . . and order the entry of judgment in the case” 28 U.S.C. § 636(c). Because the named defendant has not yet been served, the undersigned concludes that the defendant is not presently a party whose consent is required to permit the undersigned to enter an opinion, order, and judgment denying Plaintiff leave to proceed in forma pauperis and dismissing this action without prejudice.

See Neals v. Norwood, 59 F.3d 530, 532 (5th Cir. 1995) (“The record does not contain a consent from the defendants[; h]owever, because they had not been served, they were not parties to th[e] action at the time the magistrate entered judgment.”).¹

Plaintiff has filed at least three lawsuits that were dismissed as frivolous, malicious, or for failure to state a claim, and Plaintiff has not demonstrated that he is in imminent danger of serious physical injury to allow him to proceed in forma pauperis in this action. Further, Plaintiff has not paid the $405.00 civil action filing fees applicable to those not permitted to proceed in forma pauperis.²

Accordingly, for the reasons set forth below, this action will be dismissed without prejudice pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g).

Discussion

The PLRA amended the procedural rules governing a prisoner’s request for the privilege of proceeding in forma pauperis. As the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit has stated, the PLRA was “aimed at the skyrocketing numbers of claims filed by prisoners—many of which are meritless—and the corresponding burden those filings have placed on the federal courts.” Hampton v. Hobbs, 106 F.3d 1281, 1286 (6th Cir. 1997). For that reason, Congress created economic incentives to prompt a prisoner to “stop and think” before filing a complaint. Id. For example, a prisoner is liable for the civil action filing fee, and if the prisoner qualifies to proceed in forma pauperis, the prisoner may pay the fee through partial payments as outlined in 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b). The constitutionality of the fee requirements of the PLRA has been upheld by the Sixth Circuit. Id. at 1288.

² The filing fee for a civil action is $350.00. 28 U.S.C. § 1914(a). The Clerk is also directed to collect a miscellaneous administrative fee of $55.00. 28 U.S.C. § 1914(b); <https://www.uscourts.gov/services-forms/fees/district-court-miscellaneous-fee-schedule>. However, the miscellaneous administrative fee “does not apply to applications for a writ of habeas corpus or to persons granted in forma pauperis status under 28 U.S.C. § 1915.” <https://www.uscourts.gov/services-forms/fees/district-court-miscellaneous-fee-schedule>.

In addition, another provision reinforces the “stop and think” aspect of the PLRA by preventing a prisoner from proceeding in forma pauperis when the prisoner repeatedly files meritless lawsuits. Known as the “three-strikes” rule, the provision states:

In no event shall a prisoner bring a civil action or appeal a judgment in a civil action or proceeding under [the section governing proceedings in forma pauperis] if the prisoner has, on 3 or more prior occasions, while incarcerated or detained in any facility, brought an action or appeal in a court of the United States that was dismissed on the grounds that it is frivolous, malicious, or fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, unless the prisoner is under imminent danger of serious physical injury.

28 U.S.C. § 1915(g). The statutory restriction “[i]n no event,” found in § 1915(g), is express and unequivocal. The statute does allow an exception for a prisoner who is “under imminent danger of serious physical injury.” The Sixth Circuit has upheld the constitutionality of the three-strikes rule against arguments that it violates equal protection, the right of access to the courts, and due process, and that it constitutes a bill of attainder and is ex post facto legislation. Wilson v. Yaklich, 148 F.3d 596, 604–06 (6th Cir. 1998).

Plaintiff has been an active litigant in the federal courts in Michigan. In at least three of Plaintiff’s lawsuits, the Court entered dismissals on the grounds that the cases were frivolous, malicious, and/or failed to state a claim. See, e.g., Order & J., Johnson v. Quist, No. 2:12-cv-11907 (E.D. Mich. July 10, 2012); Op., Order & J., Johnson v. Kuehne, No. 2:12-cv-12878 (E.D. Mich.

July 31, 2012); Order & J., Johnson v. Harrison, No. 2:12-cv-12543 (E.D. Mich. Aug. 2, 2012). Additionally, on multiple occasions, Plaintiff has been denied leave to proceed in forma pauperis by this Court, the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, and the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals. Indeed, the present suit is one of scores that Plaintiff has filed during his incarceration. Plaintiff has filed so many frivolous lawsuits that the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan has enjoined Plaintiff from filing any new action without first obtaining leave of court, Johnson v. Schultz, No. 2:22-cv-11056, 2022 WL 1569281, at *2 (E.D. Mich. May 18, 2022), a restriction that the Sixth Circuit concluded was “justified by Johnson’s record of engaging in vexatious litigation.” Order, Johnson v. Correctional Officer Schultz, No. 22-1520, at 3 (6th Cir. Jan. 13, 2023).

As explained below, Plaintiff’s allegations in the present action do not fall within the “imminent danger” exception to the three-strikes rule. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g). The Sixth Circuit set forth the following general requirements for a claim of imminent danger:

In order to allege sufficiently imminent danger, we have held that “the threat or prison condition must be real and proximate and the danger of serious physical injury must exist at the time the complaint is filed.” Rittner v. Kinder, 290 F. App’x 796, 797 (6th Cir. 2008) (internal quotation marks omitted). “Thus a prisoner’s assertion that he or she faced danger in the past is insufficient to invoke the exception.” Id. at 797–98; see also [Taylor v. First Med. Mgmt., 508 F. App’x 488, 492 (6th Cir. 2012)] (“Allegations of past dangers are insufficient to invoke the exception.”); Percival v. Gerth, 443 F. App’x 944, 946 (6th Cir. 2011) (“Assertions of past danger will not satisfy the ‘imminent danger’ exception.”); cf. [Pointer v. Wilkinson, 502 F.3d 369, 371 n.1 (6th Cir. 2007)] (implying that past danger is insufficient for the imminent-danger exception).

In addition to a temporal requirement, we have explained that the allegations must be sufficient to allow a court to draw reasonable inferences that the danger exists. To that end, “district courts may deny a prisoner leave to proceed pursuant to § 1915(g) when the prisoner’s claims of imminent danger are conclusory or ridiculous, or are clearly baseless (i.e. are fantastic or delusional and rise to the level of irrational or wholly incredible).” Rittner, 290 F. App’x at 798 (internal quotation marks and citations omitted); see also Taylor, 508 F. App’x at 492 (“Allegations that are conclusory, ridiculous, or clearly baseless are also insufficient for purposes of the imminent-danger exception.”).

Vandiver v. Prison Health Services, Inc., 727 F.3d 580, 585 (6th Cir. 2013). A prisoner’s claim of imminent danger is subject to the same notice pleading requirement as that which applies to prisoner complaints. Id. Consequently, a prisoner must allege facts in the complaint from which the Court could reasonably conclude that the prisoner was under an existing danger at the time he filed his complaint, but the prisoner need not affirmatively prove those allegations. Id.

Plaintiff is currently incarcerated at the Kinross Correctional Facility (KCF), and he sues Health Unit Manager Wendy Ball. Plaintiff alleges that on August 24, 2024, he sent a medical kite to Defendant Ball explaining that an officer was denying Plaintiff access to medical services. (Compl., ECF No. 1, PageID.3.) Plaintiff noted that he was “trying to receive treatment for [his] chronic and severe migraine headache pain.” (Id.) Plaintiff alleges that he has suffered from migraine headaches for 15 years, and that the pain has become worse. (Id.) Plaintiff states that when he experiences the pain, he blacks out, causing him to fall and collapse, “causing further pain and injuries, which leave[s] [him] with sharp pain in [his] chest.” (Id.)

Plaintiff alleges that on August 26, 2024, he fell in the shower. (Id.) He states that the chest pain causes labored breathing, and that his heart “skip[s] a beat.” (Id.) Plaintiff contends that up until when he filed his complaint, Defendant Ball and other medical staff have not responded to his requests for treatment. (Id.) Plaintiff contends that he is in imminent danger of serious physical harm because of the migraine pain that causes him to black out, fall, and hit his head. (Id.)

The Court notes that the Sixth Circuit has held that “a plaintiff who alleges a danger of serious harm due to a failure to treat a chronic illness or condition satisfies the imminent-danger exception under § 1915(g), as incremental harm that culminates in a serious physical injury may present a danger equal to harm that results from an injury that occurs all at once.” Vandiver, 727

F.3d at 587. In 2019, the Sixth Circuit provided the following definition of a physical injury: “A physical injury is ‘serious’ for purposes of § 1915(g) if it has potentially dangerous consequences such as death or serious bodily harm. Minor harms or fleeting discomfort don’t count.” Gresham v. Meden, 938 F.3d 847, 850 (6th Cir. 2019).

The Court does not minimize Plaintiff’s experience; however, based on the facts alleged in the complaint, Plaintiff fails to show that he was in imminent danger of serious physical injury at the time that he filed his complaint on September 5, 2024.³ Although Plaintiff states that he has suffered from migraine headaches for 15 years and that the pain causes him to black out, fall, and hit his head, Plaintiff does not include facts from which this Court could infer that his condition may lead to death or serious bodily harm. Further, although Plaintiff suggests that he experienced chest pains from his migraines, the Sixth Circuit has noted that “[c]hest pains . . . can cause discomfort and pain, to be sure. But they are typically temporary and rarely life threatening.” Gresham, 938 F.3d at 850. Furthermore, while Plaintiff states that he blacked out, fell, and hit his head on two occasions, he does not set forth facts suggesting that he suffers any lasting consequences from those falls. Simply put, Plaintiff’s “[a]llegations of past dangers are insufficient to invoke the exception.” Taylor, 508 F. App’x at 492.

Moreover, although Plaintiff contends that he sent healthcare kites requesting treatment to the Health Unit Manager, he alleges no facts suggesting that Defendant Ball actually received those kites and was aware of the symptoms Plaintiff was experiencing from his migraine headaches. Indeed, Plaintiff signed his complaint on September 5, 2024, a little over a week after experiencing his symptoms on August 24 and 26, 2024. Thus, it is entirely plausible that Defendant Ball had no knowledge of Plaintiff's symptoms within the short period of time between when they occurred and when Plaintiff filed his complaint.

In reaching this conclusion, the Court does not discount the pain Plaintiff alleges he experiences. Plaintiff's conditions, however, are "described with insufficient facts and detail to establish that he is in danger of imminent physical injury" from Defendant. See Rittner, 290 F. App'x at 798 (footnote omitted). That is not to say that Plaintiff's allegations are "ridiculous . . . baseless . . . fantastic—or delusional . . . irrational or wholly incredible." Vandiver, 727 F.3d at 585. They are simply insufficient.

Accordingly, Plaintiff is barred from proceeding in forma pauperis under § 1915(g). Plaintiff also has not paid the $405.00 civil action filing fees applicable to those not permitted to proceed in forma pauperis. The Court will therefore dismiss this action without prejudice. See Dupree v. Palmer, 284 F.3d 1234, 1236 (11th Cir. 2002) ("[T]he proper procedure is for the district court to dismiss the complaint without prejudice when it denies the prisoner leave to proceed in forma pauperis pursuant to the three strikes provision of § 1915(g)."). Plaintiff is free to refile his complaint as a new action in this Court if he submits the filing fees at the time that he initiates the new action.

Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, the Court will deny Plaintiff leave to proceed in forma pauperis. The Court will dismiss this action without prejudice to Plaintiff's right to refile his complaint as a new action in this Court with the full civil action filing fees.⁴

For the same reasons that the Court dismisses the action, the Court discerns no good-faith basis for an appeal. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(3); McGore v. Wigglesworth, 114 F.3d 601, 611 (6th Cir. 1997). Further, should Plaintiff appeal this decision, he must pay the $605.00 appellate filing fee in a lump sum, because he is prohibited from proceeding in forma pauperis on appeal by 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g).

An order and judgment consistent with this opinion will be entered.
